Software Alliance for E-Mobility („S.A.F.E.“)

Association for the Promotion of Research and Consumer Protection in the Field of Electric Mobility

(hereinafter referred to as the "Association")

Preamble

1. For many years now, in Germany, the transparent billing of services has been an important issue particularly for ensuring consumer protection standards are upheld. The Regulatory Arbitration Committee / "Regelermittlungsausschuss" (REA) in their report, '6-A Uniform Requirements for the Collection of Measured Values at Charging Stations', stipulated the requirements for a nationwide, uniform framework. Based on this, operators of charging stations are obligated to implement the calibration law requirement
2. In addition to a local memory and display module (SAM), the market is also developing a so-called Favourable Solution in Compliance with Calibration Laws / "Günstige Lösung im Sinne des Eichrechts" (GL). Essentially this means providing recorded values with end to end signatures, so that consumers can check the accuracy of the recorded values of their charging process, with reassurance, even after a time delay. For this requirement to be made possible, a transparency software must be applied, which can check the digital signatures of the measured values. The software uses signature data and the so-called "Public Key" which is stored in the measuring device of the charging station. The signature verification makes it possible for consumers to check the measured values and accounting data.
3. The aim of the Association is to provide all companies active in the field of electric mobility with a uniform standardized transparency software and thereby ensure consumer protection.
4. For this purpose, some of the founding members of the Association have come together with other individuals and companies who are active in the field of electric mobility or developing research on transparency software. Together with another founding member, has.to.be gmbh, the first transparency software for electric mobility has been developed.
5. End users (individuals and legal entities), who charge their electric vehicles at the charging points where the transparency software is installed, currently have the ability to check the measured values and billing data regarding their charging process free of charge.
6. Hardware manufacturers of charging infrastructures shall be provided with the software as a part of their membership with S.A.F.E. and upon confirming the terms of a license agreement. Further details are included in the license agreement.

7. Furthermore, the Association will continue to work with its membership to advance and promote this field of technology, so that the results are beneficial to the public.
8. For this purpose, an association shall be founded which is dedicated to the above-mentioned endeavors and who shall own the license rights to the transparency software.
9. Every individual and legal entity who are active in the field of electric mobility or who intend to be active in this area, are welcome to join the Association as members or supporting members.
10. The transparency software was tested by VDE (test report from 18.04.2019 -5024855-1470-0001/254265 TL4/shf). The correct functioning of the transparency software was tested and certified and is guaranteed by the VDE test report. The source code and documentation for all components shall be published by the Association on 01/01/2020. As regards future versions of the transparency software, which will equally be checked and certified by a conformity assessment authority, their source code and documentation shall also be disclosed by the Association.
